ALBANIAN ASSIGNMENT

The Memoir of an SOE Agent
in World War Two

Para Medic is the extraordinary story of Dave Bentley, a British paratrooper and medic who served in some of the most intense conflicts of our time, from the Falklands War to the Balkans and Iraq. Bentley's unflinching account of his experiences offers a unique glimpse into the horrors of war and the resilience of the human spirit.

Bentley was born in 1960 and joined the British Army at the age of 16. He quickly rose through the ranks, becoming a paratrooper with the 2nd Battalion, Parachute Regiment. In 1982, Bentley was deployed to the Falklands War, where he witnessed the horrors of war firsthand. He was involved in some of the most intense fighting of the conflict, including the Battle of Goose Green and the Battle of Port Stanley.

After the Falklands War, Bentley continued to serve in the British Army, deploying on operations to Northern Ireland, Bosnia, and Iraq. He was awarded the Military Cross for his actions in Iraq, where he saved the lives of several soldiers under heavy fire.

Bentley retired from the British Army in 2002, but he continues to work in the field of conflict resolution. He is a founding member of the charity Combat Stress, which provides support to veterans suffering from mental health problems. He is also a regular speaker on the dangers of war and the importance of peace.

Para Medic is a powerful and moving account of one man's experiences of war and peace. Bentley's story is a testament to the resilience of the human spirit and the importance of compassion in the face of adversity.
