Here are ten secrets the police don't want you to know:

1. Police are not your friends. They are not here to help you. Their job is to enforce the law, and they will do whatever it takes to get the job done, even if it means violating your rights.
2. You have the right to remain silent. Do not say anything to the police without first talking to a lawyer. Anything you say can and will be used against you in court.
3. You have the right to an attorney. If you cannot afford an attorney, one will be appointed to you free of charge.
4. You have the right to refuse a search. The police cannot search your person, your home, or your car without a warrant. If they do, anything they find can be used against you in court.
5. You have the right to a fair trial. The police cannot hold you in jail without charging you with a crime. If you are charged with a crime, you have the right to a trial by a jury.
6. The police are not above the law. If a police officer violates your rights, you can file a complaint against them. If the complaint is upheld, the officer could be fired, demoted, or even arrested.
7. You are not alone. There are millions of people who have been victims of police abuse. You are not alone, and you are not powerless.

8. You can fight back. There are many things you can do to fight back against police abuse. You can file a complaint, you can contact the media, or you can join a protest.
9. You can make a difference. By speaking out against police abuse, you can help to create a more just and equitable world.
10. You are not powerless. You have the power to protect yourself from police abuse. You have the power to fight back. You have the power to make a difference.
